Hardiness Zone Map

This simplified plant zones map issued in 2023 is available to view in full detail online. To use the interactive feature that allows you to find your hardiness zone by typing in your zip code, go to planthardiness.ars.usda.gov or follow the Zone Map link on our website at jungseed.com.

Hardiness zones are based on the average minimum temperature for each zone. Lower numbers indicate the most northern area where plants will survive the winter and higher numbers are the most southern area where they will perform consistently. Recommended plant zones are meant as guidelines only. Other plant growth factors may affect hardiness such as rainfall, wind, humidity, soil type, altitude, sunlight and cultural practices. It's always best to use your instincts, observe other gardens in the area and be willing to do some experimenting with plant locations and plant protections.

Fall-Blooming Bulbs

The flowers shoot up without any leaves, remaining in bloom from September to October. Whether the foliage immediately follows the flowers or waits until spring, let it dry naturally as this process feeds the bulbs and is necessary for flowering. Please note: Items on this page are shipped September to mid-October and may be sprouted when they arrive. Plant immediately.

When planting, we suggest working ¼-½ pound of aluminum sulfate per plant into the soil. PRUNING SUMMER-BEARING RASPBERRIES:

After plants are established, cut out all 2-year canes immediately after harvest and also thin out the weaker canes. In spring, before new growth starts, thin out remaining canes, leaving 3-4 of the largest canes per 1 foot of row. The tips may be cut back, but not too much or you will reduce your crop.

Plants have good tolerance to root rot and yellow rust. Vigorous, highly productive canes require sturdy support. Widely adapted. Zones: 4-8. Ht: 4-6'. ○ PP

Heritage

F30335 $14.95; 3+ $13.95 ea

PRUNING FALL-BEARING RASPBERRIES:

The preferred and most popular method is to cut back canes at ground level in the fall after a killing frost. This will eliminate a summer crop, but will produce an earlier and larger fall crop. If a more continuous supply of berries is preferred, cut canes to 2½' while dormant. Remove these canes the next summer after fruiting.

CAROLINE

HERITAGE

RASPBERRY PLANTING TIP: Space plants 2' apart in rows 6-8' apart. Plant roots only as deep as they were grown in the nursery or just covered. If planted too deep, they may not grow. After plants are set, cut canes back to 3-4" above the soil. Keep soil moist with 1" of water per week (2½-3 gallons every other day).

STRAWBERRY MANAGEMENT: In Zones 5 and colder, replace day-neutral varieties every year and everbearing varieties every 1-2 years. Plants should be set 12-15" apart, cutting off all runners as they form. Removing runners encourages multiple crown formation; the more crowns the more fruit. On spring-planted, June-bearing types, remove all blossoms for 1 year. For everbearing types, remove all blossoms for 6-8 weeks the first spring, then allow plants to set fruit. Fertilize after harvest.
